Subject: Product End of Life Notification

Due to cost and delivery issues, CNC Tech will be moving production of the following USB cables to another factory located in Taiwan. We will be offering a functional substitute for these parts, but because there may be minor fluctuations in appearance and very slight over-molding size differences, we feel a part number change is appropriate. A product discontinuation notice will be issued once the old version of these cables are no longer available.

Please see below for the old and new part numbers.
