The images below detail the change. There is no change in fit or function of these parts.

Current Black Color

New Blue Color

Justification:

This change was triggered due to an obsolescence notification from our black polymer material supplier. The black polymer was used on older legacy products. The blue polymer is currently being used on all other TTM Wireless resistive products. No additional qualification is required.

Timeline:

Parts will begin shipping with the blue polymer when existing stock is depleted. We anticipate that high running parts will start shipping with the Blue polymer on or around June 1, 2020.

To help determine the impact of this change on customer system, samples of parts with the Blue Polymer can be made available as needed.
